Item Description FIELD

Site Data

The field consists of improved pasture grassland and rises to the north west to form a low mound on which an adjacent bungalow has been built on the far side of the boundary fence. The field forms a rough triangle with the north west boundary formed by the boundary wall of Appleby Carr. The west boundary consists of a hedge with a post and wire fence and is contiguous with the garden of the bungalow and with Preston Bottoms Lane. The south east boundary consists of a post and wire fence with hedge. There is a vehicle gate at the southern corner connecting to the main road and from here to the north east parallel with the boundary runs a trackway, now turf covered, about 2.5 m wide and raised like a causway about 0.3 m above the ground level. It continues into the next field. In the north east corner adjacent to the boundary of Appleby Carr, at GR 33773 58331, is concrete slab measuring 5x5 m.

History Summary

The field has remained unchanged until the mid 20th century when it merged with the field to its north
