Item Description RIDGE AND FURROW

Site Data

An area of ridge and furrow situated in the south east quadrant of Jacob Smith Park. It measures approximately 200m x 150m and the visible area runs from the western boundary wall of the park across a mown area and up Guiseley Hill into the rough grass. The furrows are detectable at the southern extent as far as the south eastern boundary of the park. The ridges stand approximately 7m apart and are visible in places as low profile features and their presence is confirmed elsewhere by dowsing. They are also revealed on aerial photographs. They lie on an approximate east west axis. Dowsing indicates that the ridge and furrow appears to extend beyond the eastern boundary wall and underneath Scriven Road. This thoroughfare is marked on the estate map of 1629 which suggests that the ridge and furrow predates this and is probably medieval in origin and that the road is a later feature.

History Summary

The ridge and furrow is seen faintly on the 2007, 1990, 1960 and 1950 aerial photographs and is clearly seen on the 1970 photos.
