Hedgerow Data Summary

This is the north boundary of field 28. From the east end going to the west for about 50m a natural hedge has grown up over a post and wire fence of brambles, convolvulus and sticky willie. From there on it is a fairly new hedge recently planted of blackthorn with a young coppice on the other side. Then there is a strip of laural followed by laylandia. There are also holly, burburous darwinii, and hawthorn.
